

Security Studies

NEW BOOKS & SELECTED BACKLIST

LYNNE RIENNER PUBLISHERS

CELEBRATING 21 YEARS
OF INDEPENDENT PUBLISHING

LYNNE RIENNER PUBLISHERS

Examination Copies

We will be glad to send you paperback examination copies (limit 3 per course) for $7.50 each (£5 in Europe), including postage. Please submit your request on department letterhead and include the name and number of the course, its anticipated enrollment, and when it will be offered. Payment must be enclosed.

Looking for a specific book?

Can't find it in this catalog? To make space for our ever-growing list of new books, we have had to leave out some of your old favorites. For information about books not in this catalog, just call us at 303-444-6684 with your questions or visit our website, www.rienner.com, to search our complete database by author, title, or keyword.

Text-in-Time™

Is the text you want to use out-of-stock? Don't despair! Call Sheila or Patty at 303-444-6684 for details about our Text-in-Time print-on-demand program.

Full information on all LRP books can be obtained at our website, www.rienner.com. Or, just contact our office (tel: 303-444-6684; fax: 303-444-0824; e-mail: cservice@rienner.com) to request a subject-area catalog.

CELEBRATING 21 YEARS OF INDEPENDENT PUBLISHING

1800 30TH STREET • SUITE 314 • BOULDER CO 80301 • TEL (303) 444-6684 • FAX (303) 444-0824 • www.rienner.com

“A comprehensive treatment of the security agenda.... The coverage is wide-ranging and well informed and the use of examples makes the book approachable for those new to the field of security studies.”

—JOHN WILLIAMS

“A welcome addition.... This survey and critique of the central problem of international relations is to be recommended as a contribution to security studies in general, and is also one of only a few books to address the issue from the Critical Security perspective.”

—BILL MCSWEENEY

Michael Sheehan provides a masterly survey of the varied positions that scholars have adopted in interpreting “security”—one of the most contested terms in international relations—and asks whether a synthesis is possible that both widens and deepens our understanding of the concept.

Sheehan begins by outlining the classical realist approach of Morgenthau and Carr and the ideas of their neorealist heirs. He then explores how the economic security approach embraces both defense economics and human security from poverty and hunger; and how environmental security links environment and security in a fundamental challenge to the international political hierarchy.

Next, tackling the various postpositivist perspectives on security—all of which stem from world views fundamentally different from that of realism—he explains the range of feminist thought on security, the ideas of the critical security school, and the main concerns of postmodern security theory.

In conclusion, revealing his own interpretation of security, he makes the case for a postpositivist conception that links human emancipation, justice, and peace.

Michael Sheehan is professor of international relations at Swansea University.

Contents

- Introduction.
- What Is Security? Realism and Security.
- Security Communities and Democratic Peace.
- The Broader Agenda.
- Economic Security.
- Societal Security.
- Environmental Security.
- Gender and Security.
- Postmodernism and Security.
- Critical Security.
- Conclusions.

November 2004/ca. 215 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-273-1 hc £37.95/$49.95

ISBN: 1-58826-298-7 pb £14.95/$19.95

International Security: An Analytical Survey

Michael Sheehan

To Order Now

“The Arms Dynamic in World Politics succeeds admirably in its efforts to place military technology within the broader context of military security and world politics.... It should be a ‘must buy’ for security studies courses.”

—MALCOLM CHALMERS,
INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

“An ambitious, noteworthy, and integrative book.... As a review of and contribution to the consolidation and even development of mid-range theory ... this volume is an unambiguous success.”

—ANDREW L. ROSS,
AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE REVIEW

“Here is a volume that raises all the essential issues and cuts through hundreds of books and articles to get at the center of matters relating to arms in international relations.” —K. J. HOLSTI

What is the relationship between the arms dynamic and world politics? How has that relationship changed? Considering the entire set of factors that influence the nature of armed forces, this comprehensive book puts these essential questions into historical and analytical perspective.

Barry Buzan is professor of international relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science. Eric Herring is lecturer in international politics at the University of Bristol.

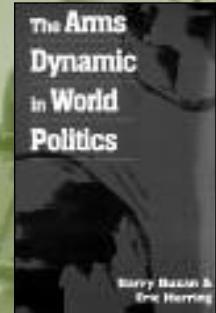

Contents

- Introduction.
- TRACING THE ARMS DYNAMIC. Revolutions in Military Technology. The Global Spread of Military Technology. The Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction.
- EXPLAINING THE ARMS DYNAMIC. Arms Racing and the Arms Dynamic. The Action-Reaction Model. The Domestic Structure Model. Relating the Two Models.
- USING THE ARMS DYNAMIC. Force. Threats. Symbols.
- CONTROLLING THE ARMS DYNAMIC. Military Means as a Source of Security Problems. Arms Control. Non-Offensive Defense. Disarmament.
- CONCLUSION.

1998/330 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-596-3 pb £16.95/$22.50

The Arms Dynamic in World Politics

Barry Buzan and Eric Herring

To Order Now

Security: A New Framework for Analysis

Barry Buzan, Ole Wæver, and Jaap de Wilde

“A rigorous reassessment of the wider approach to international security studies.... [It is] a remarkable piece of work which will surely remain required reading for many years to come.” —CHRIS SMITH, INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

“An ambitious and valuable attempt to engage analysis of security with contemporary social theory and current political issues.”

—APRIL CARTER, POLITICAL STUDIES

Two schools of thought now exist in security studies: traditionalists want to restrict the subject to politico-military issues; while wideners want to extend it to the economic, societal, and environmental sectors. This book sets out a comprehensive statement of the new security studies, establishing the case for the broader agenda.

The authors argue that security is a particular type of politics applicable to a wide range of issues. Answering the traditionalist charge that this model makes the subject incoherent, they offer a constructivist operational method for distinguishing the process of securitization from that of politicization. Their approach incorporates the traditionalist agenda and dissolves the artificial boundary between security studies and international political economy, opening the way for a fruitful interplay between the two fields. It also shows how the theory of regional security complexes remains relevant in today's world.

Barry Buzan is professor of international relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science. Ole Wæver is professor of international relations at the University of Copenhagen. Jaap de Wilde is lecturer in international relations at the University of Twente (the Netherlands).

Contents

- Introduction • Security Analysis: Conceptual Apparatus • The Military Sector • The Environmental Sector • The Economic Sector • The Societal Sector • The Political Sector • How Sectors are Synthesized • Conclusions.

1998/240 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-784-2 pb £14.95/$19.95

“A spirited, passionate, and conceptually sophisticated expression of the critical studies school. The authors point to new ways of conceptualizing the world and understanding the factors and forces that are recasting the international landscape.... will be welcomed by scholars and students alike.”

—FEN OSLER HAMPSON

Realist assumptions of security studies increasingly have been challenged by an approach that places the human being, rather than the state, at the center of security concerns. This text is an indispensable statement of the ideas of this critical security project, written by some of its leading exponents.

The book is structured around three concepts—security, community, and emancipation—that arguably are central to the future shape of world politics. Each of its three parts begins with a survey of key theoretical issues, followed by an investigation of current case material. The authors emphasize that critical security is about the problems of real people in real places, and about linking theory and practice. Throughout, they address the fundamental questions at the heart of critical thinking about security.

Ken Booth is E.H. Carr Professor and head of the Department of International Politics, University of Wales, Aberystwyth.

Contents

•Critical Explorations—K. Booth.

SECURITY

•Introduction—K. Booth.

- The Contested Concept of Security—S. Smith.
- Military Force(s) and In/security—G. Cheeseman.
- Militarized Masculinities and the Politics of Peacekeeping: The Canadian Case—S. Whitworth.

COMMUNITY

- Introduction—K. Booth.
- Political Community and Human Security—A. Linklater.
- The Missing Link: Security, Critical International Political Economy, and Community—R. Tooze.
- Questions of Identity: Australia and Asia—J.J. Pettman.

EMANCIPATION

- Introduction—K. Booth.
- Emancipation in the Critical Security Studies Project—H. Alker.
- On Emancipation: Necessity, Capacity, and Concrete Utopias—R. Wyn Jones.
- Communal Conflict and Emancipation: The Case of Northern Ireland—J. Ruane and J. Todd.

CONCLUSION

- Beyond Critical Security Studies—K. Booth.

December 2004/ca. 320 pages

ISBN: 1-55587-825-3 hc £45.50/$59.95

ISBN: 1-55587-826-1 pb £17.95/$23.50

Critical Security Studies

Critical Security Studies and World Politics

Ken Booth, editor

“A fascinating and comprehensive examination of the causes, and consequences, of casualty aversion in war. Mandel addresses all the major conceptual issues surrounding the topic, including a cost/benefit analysis of employing technical means to minimize casualties. He has done us all a service in the process.”

—WILLIAM D. CASEBEER

In recent decades, government and military officials alike have pushed increasingly in the direction of “bloodless wars,” where confrontations are undertaken—and ultimately won—with minimum loss of human life. Robert Mandel provides the first comprehensive analysis of this trend.

After exploring the moral, legal, military, and political bases of the desire to minimize wartime casualties, Mandel examines the actual strategies and tools involved; here, the focus is on nonlethal weapons, precision-guided munitions, and information warfare. He then addresses the sobering practical constraints on aspirations to minimize casualties. His concluding review of policy options draws lessons from pre-modern patterns of warfare and calls for a more realistic understanding of the strategies available in today’s security environment.

Robert Mandel is professor of international affairs at Lewis and Clark College.

Contents

- Introduction.
- The Quest for Bloodless War.
- Means of Pursuing Bloodless War.
- Precision-Guided Munitions.
- Nonlethal Weaponry.
- Information Warfare.
- What Can Go Wrong.
- Toward Effective Casualty Aversion.
- Security Policy Implications.

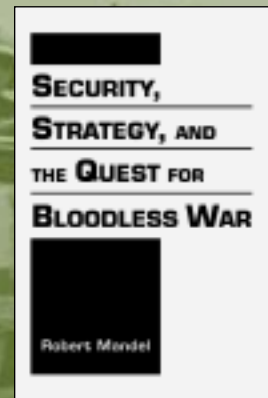

August 2004/ca. 205 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-269-3

hc £37.95/$49.95

Security, Strategy, and the Quest for Bloodless War

Robert Mandel

Text-in-Time™

Is the text you want to use out-of-stock? Don't despair! Call Sheila or Patty at 303-444-6684 for details about our Text-in-Time print-on-demand program.

To Order Now

NEW!

“A provocative and disturbing account of how soldiers and the military have responded to the sometimes contradictory requirements of peace operations. Whitworth’s feminist analysis questions our assumption that warriors are able to bring—or keep—peace.”

—SIMON CHESTERMAN

“Whitworth digs deep into the cultural politics of internationalized war, peace, and security. She asks—and answers—feminist questions about soldiering, about national myths, and about internal UN dynamics in graphic ways that make this compulsory and gripping reading.”

—CYNTHIA ENLOE

In this important, controversial, and at times troubling book, Sandra Whitworth looks behind the rhetoric to investigate from a feminist perspective some of the realities of military intervention under the UN flag.

Whitworth contends that there is a fundamental contradiction between portrayals of peacekeeping as altruistic and benign and the militarized masculinity that underpins the group identity of soldiers. Examining evidence from Cambodia and Somalia, she argues that sexual and other crimes can be seen as expressions of a violent “hypermasculinity” that is congruent with militarized identities, but entirely incongruent with missions aimed at maintaining peace. She also asserts that recent efforts within the UN to address gender issues in peacekeeping operations have failed because they fail to challenge traditional understandings of militaries, conflict, and women.

This unsettling critique of UN operations, which also investigates the interplay between gender and racial stereotyping in peacekeeping, has the power to change conventional perceptions, with considerable policy implications.

Sandra Whitworth is associate professor of political science and women’s studies at York University and deputy director of the York Centre for International and Security Studies.

Contents

- Introduction: The Costly Contradictions of UN Peacekeeping.
- The Narratives of Peacekeeping, Past and Present.
- When the UN “Succeeds”: The Case of Cambodia.
- Canada: The Peacekeeping Country Par Excellence?
- When the UN Responds: A Critique of Gender Mainstreaming.
- Militarized Masculinities and Blue Berets.
- Conclusion: Do Warriors Make the Best Peacekeepers?

---

August 2004/ca. 215 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-296-0

hc £37.95/$49.95

Critical Security Studies

Men, Militarism, and UN Peacekeeping: A Gendered Analysis

Sandra Whitworth

“Raises important and provocative questions about the pattern of detachment in modern warfare that should stimulate lively discussion among scholars and policy makers alike.”

—ROBERT MANDEL, CONTEMPORARY SECURITY POLICY

“A fine work—interesting, provocative, and timely.... McInnes effectively captures the duality of concepts embodied in the decline in the likelihood of major war and the increasing likelihood of asymmetrical or what the author terms ‘spectator-sport’ wars.... Strongly recommended for anyone seeking to understand the future of warfare.” —CHOICE

Following a century dominated by global conflict—and despite the unchanging nature of the human suffering it causes—the nature of war itself, argues Colin McInnes, has been transformed for the West. Spectator-Sport War considers the key developments that have led to this metamorphosis, ranging from new geopolitical relationships to new technological advances.

McInnes shows that, even in the aftermath of the September 11 attacks on the United States and the military action in Afghanistan, war has direct meaning for only a small minority in the West. It is no longer participatory for Western society as a whole; it is something removed, watched from afar. The far-reaching implications of this phenomenon, for both the military and the broader community, are explored in the final chapter of the book.

Colin McInnes is professor of international politics at the University of Wales, Aberystwyth. In 1999, he was appointed special adviser to the British House of Commons Defence Committee.

Contents

- Introduction.
- Modern War and Total War.
- The Obsolescence of Major War.
- The Transformation of War.
- Airpower and the Use of Force.
- The Revolution in Military Affairs.
- Spectator-Sport Warfare.

2002/187 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-047-X    hc £37.95/$49.95

Spectator-Sport War: The West and Contemporary Conflict

Colin McInnes

“The contributors assembled in Larsen’s edited volume represent a cadre of scholars who should be high up on the list of those with whom one seeks to engage in a constructive dialogue.”

—ALEXANDER KELLE, INTERNATIONAL STUDIES REVIEW

“Provides a concise overview of current and emerging themes in the arms control debate.... This edited collection would make an ideal textbook for a university course on arms control.”

—ANDREW NEWMAN, CONTEMPORARY SECURITY POLICY

More than a decade after the end of the Cold War, the need to control the spread of arms remains clear, while the usefulness of traditional paradigms is increasingly called into question. The authors of Arms Control thoroughly review this complex topic, exploring differing approaches to arms control, successes and failures thus far, and the likelihood of future agreements.

Ranging from the U.S. and Europe to Africa, Asia, and the Middle East, from conventional weapons to potential threats from outer space—and cyberspace—the book is designed to serve as an accessible introduction to the subject of arms control, as well as a convenient, comprehensive resource for any student of international affairs.

Jeffrey A. Larsen is senior policy analyst in the Strategies Group of Science Applications International Corporation (Colorado Springs, CO).

Contents

- Foreword—T.C. Schelling.
- An Introduction to Arms Control—J.A. Larsen.
- ARMS CONTROL IN CONTEXT
- A History of Arms Control—M.O. Wheeler.
- The Changing International Context—S. Foerster.
- Domestic Factors in Arms Control: The U.S. Case—J.E. Sims.

- Verification and Transparency: Relics or Future Requirements?—J.F. Pilat.

PREVENTING THE SPREAD OF ARMS

- Strategic Nuclear Arms Control—F.E. Waller Jr.
- Nuclear Proliferation—L. Spector.
- Chemical and Biological Weapons—M.I. Chevrier.
- Conventional Weapons—J.L. Husbands.
- Cooperative Security Measures—G.B. Roberts.

REGIONAL PERSPECTIVES

- Europe—J.D. McCausland.
- The Middle East—G.M. Segell.
- Africa—C. Carr.
- South Asia—P.R. Lavoy.
- East Asia—B. Roberts.

FUTURE CHALLENGES FOR ARMS CONTROL

- The Future of the Offense-Defense Relationship—K. Kartchner.
- Arms Control in Outer Space—P.A. McFate.
- Security in Cyberspace—G.J. Rattray.
- Arms Control in the Year 2025—J.A. Nagl.

- Conclusion: The Future of Arms Control—J.J. Wirtz.

APPENDIXES

- Chronology of Arms Control Since 1945.
- Treaties, Agreements, and Organizations of Particular Interest.

2002/413 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-013-5

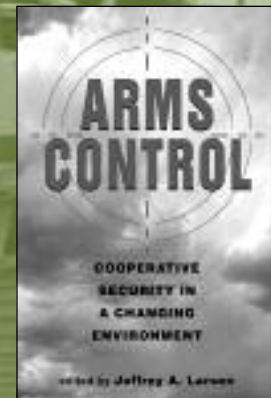

ISBN: 1-58826-038-0

hc £49.50/$65

pb £18.50/$24.50

Arms Control: Cooperative Security in a Changing Environment

Jeffrey A. Larsen,
editor

“Offers a sustained questioning of the assumption that the external strategic environment directly changes military goals, strategies, or organizations.... An important study of a culturalist approach to the issue.... Highly effective.”

—RICHARD LOCK-PULLAN, JOURNAL OF MILITARY HISTORY

In varying circumstances, military organizations around the world are undergoing major restructuring. This book explores why, and how, militaries change.

The authors focus on a complex of three influencing factors—cultural norms, politics, and new technology—offering a historical perspective of more than a century. Their analyses range from developing states to Russia, Britain, the U.S., and NATO. Throughout, they reveal the manifold interactions between state and military, and also within both, as primary driving forces of change.

Theo Farrell is lecturer in international relations at University College Dublin. Terry Terriff is senior lecturer in international security at the University of Birmingham.

Contents

INTRODUCTION

- The Sources of Military Change—the Editors.
- Military Change in Historical Perspective—J. Black.

CULTURE

- The Spread of Western Military Models to Ottoman Turkey and Meiji Japan—E.O. Goldman.
- World Culture and the Irish Army, 1922–1942—T. Farrell.
- U.S. Ideas and Military Change in NATO, 1989–1994—T. Terriff.

POLITICS

- The U.S. Military’s “Two-Front War,” 1963–1988—C.M. Cameron.
- U.S. Military Responses to Post-Cold War Missions—D.D. Avant and J.H. Lebovic.
- Reform and the Russian Military—J.G. Mathers.

TECHNOLOGY

- The British Army and the Tank—J. Stone.
- Creating a U.S. Military Revolution—Admiral W.A. Owens (U.S. Navy, ret.).
- Complexity and Theory of Networked Militaries—C.C. Demchak.

CONCLUSION

- Military Change in the New Millennium—the Editors.

2002/301 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-215-4

hc £41.95/$55

The Sources of Military Change: Culture, Politics, Technology

Theo Farrell and Terry Terriff, editors

To Order Now

“A provocative book of great originality and even greater bleakness.”

—ANDREW J. BACEVICH, INTERNATIONAL HISTORY REVIEW

“An essential help for our understanding of the attitudinal difference between American soldiers today and many of the adversaries they encounter.”

—BEATRICE HEUSER, ROYAL UNITED SERVICES INSTITUTE JOURNAL

“Coker contributes historical depth and psychological and cultural nuance to expand our perceptions of the asymmetry between Western, particularly American, and Eastern, particularly Islamic, war-making.”

—RUSSELL F. WEIGLEY,
MILITARY HISTORY

In the past, wars were all-encompassing; they were a test not only of individual bravery, but of an entire community's will to survive. In the West today, in contrast, wars are tools of foreign policy, not intrinsic to the values of a society—they are instrumental rather than existential. The clash between these two “cultures of war” can be seen starkly in the recent struggle in Afghanistan.

Coker offers both a history of martial cultures and an analysis of how these are now changing. He locates the origins of the Western way of war in ancient Greece: for example, in the heroic ideals of Homer's Iliad. He then traces the development of this warrior spirit, moving from Rome's systemization of violence to encounters with such alternative ways of war as Sun Tzu's, the Islamic tradition, and Japan's kamikaze actions during World War II. This trajectory, he finds, ends in a crucial contemporary fault line: for the first time in history, war is no longer considered humankind's most revealing behavior.

What does this mean for the future? Coker argues that tomorrow's combatants will be technicians and even machines, divorced emotionally from the battlefield. He elegantly explores the significance of an evolving culture of war devoid of the figure of the heroic warrior.

Christopher Coker is reader in international relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Contents

- The Warrior's Dishonor.
- The Origins of the Western Way of Warfare.
- The Western Way of Warfare and the Modern Age.
- The Death of the Warrior Tradition and the American Way of Warfare.
- The West Encounters the Non-Western World.
- The Warrior Tradition and the Non-Western Way of Warfare.
- Posthuman War.

2002/223 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-105-0 hc £37.95/$49.95

ISBN: 1-58826-130-1 pb £14.95/$19.95

IISS Studies in International Security

Waging War Without Warriors? The Changing Culture of Military Conflict

Christopher Coker

To Order Now

“A well-balanced treatment of a very important but oft-neglected trend.” —FUTURE SURVEY

“A welcome addition to the study of PMCs and the privatization of security more generally.”
—BRYAN MABEE, INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

“An articulate, incisive assessment of who wins and who loses in the privatization of security.” —RUSS HOWARD

What does the increasing use of private security forces mean for governments? For individuals? Armies Without States offers a comprehensive analysis of the varieties, causes, and consequences of this growing phenomenon.

Ranging from the international to the subnational level and from the use of mercenaries by private parties to the government outsourcing of military operations, Mandel reveals emerging trends and discovers parallels among security privatization in all parts of the world. Brief case studies illustrate the broader themes discussed. The book concludes with an assessment of the complexities surrounding responses to security privatization—and an exploration of when, and whether, it should be promoted rather than prevented.

Robert Mandel is professor of international affairs at Lewis and Clark College.

Contents

- Introduction.
- Recent Trends in Private Security.
- Private Security and the State System.
- Sources of the Privatization Trend.
- The Impact and Projected Consequences of Privatization.
- Private Security Services: A Taxonomy.
- International and Domestic Security: Case Studies.
- Complexities Surrounding Privatization.
- Possible Policy Alternatives.

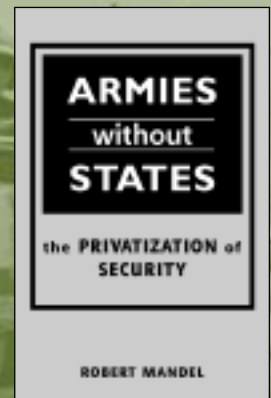

2002/169 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-215-4

hc £37.95/$49.95

Armies Without States: The Privatization of Security

Robert Mandel

To Order Now

“This book is an absolute must for any student of strategic thought.”

—BILL DOLL, PARAMETERS

“A remarkable and concentrated analysis of the origin and significance of ‘strategy’ during the Cold War.... This is a splendidly written book, full of thought-provoking insights. Highly recommended.”

—CHOICE

“[A] minor classic that deserves to be compulsory introductory reading for all students of strategic studies.... The book is as full of insights as plums in an old-fashioned pudding.”

—MICHAEL HOWARD, SURVIVAL

“This is a superb tour d’horizon of the history of strategic thought, exploring the fundamental questions of war and peace in their broad philosophical, social, and legal context.” —ROBERT S. LITWAK

“Philip Windsor’s unique combination of intellectual subtlety and brilliance, of technical competence and moral sensitivity, is at its best in this book. It took someone like Windsor, who never separated strategic, political, and philosophical concerns, to give us the last word on nuclear deterrence, on arms control, on limited war.... The last pages of his book also offer a penetrating and near prophetic insight into the new dimensions of international conflict and the present crisis.”

—PIERRE HASSNER

In this, his final book, Philip Windsor explores the emergence, meaning, and significance of the Cold War mentality. Tracing the evolution of strategic thinking from its origins in medieval Europe to the demise of the Cold War, he considers the peculiar character and autonomy that strategy acquired in the nuclear age.

Strategic Thinking addresses many of the themes that preoccupied Windsor throughout his academic career and on which his reflections threw such penetrating light: Soviet strategic thought, arms control, the role of alliances, the guerrilla phenomenon, and the rationality and ethics of nuclear deterrence. The final chapter explores the implications of the end of the Cold War for the future of strategic studies.

During his more than 30 years at the London School of Economics and Political Science, Philip Windsor (1935–2000) established a reputation as one of the most perceptive and thought-provoking thinkers in the field of international relations. Mats Berdal is director of research at the International Institute of Strategic Studies. Spyros Economides is lecturer in international relations at LSE.

2002/199 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-048-8 hc £37.95/$49.95

ISBN: 1-58826-024-0 pb £14.95/$19.95

IJSS Studies in International Security

Strategic Thinking: An Introduction and Farewell

Philip Windsor,
edited by
Mats Berdal and
Spyros Economides

To Order Now

“Indispensable reading for anyone interested in the full implications of the democratic peace debate.... If we want to understand more fully how democracy, liberalism, and war are connected, the contributors to this volume are saying, we need research that is more theoretically ambitious and historically sensitive than most work on the topic has been to date.”

—DAVID DESSLER,
AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE REVIEW

The connection between liberalism and peace—and the reason why democratic countries appear not to go to war with each other—has become a dominant theme in international relations research. This book argues that scholars need to move beyond the “democratic peace debate” to ask more searching questions about the relationship of democracy, liberalism, and war.

The authors focus on the multiple and often contradictory ways in which liberalism, democracy, war, and peace interrelate. Acknowledging that a “zone of peace” exists, they concentrate on the particular historical and political contexts that make peace possible. This approach allows the redefinition of the democratic peace as a particular set of policies and claims to knowledge—a worldview that allows the continuation of violence against “nonliberal” others and the justification of extreme divisions of wealth and power in international society.

Tarak Barkawi is lecturer in international security at the Centre for International Studies, University of Cambridge. Mark Laffey is lecturer in international relations at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London.

Contents

• Introduction—the Editors • Realist Spaces/Liberal Bellicosities: Reading the Democratic Peace as World Democratic Theory—D.L. Blaney • The Limits to Democratic Peace in South Asia—H. Muppidi • Democracy and Ethnic War—M. Mann • Military Professionalism and the Democratic Peace—T.R.W. Kubik • The Democratic Peace and the Cold War in the Third World—T. Barkawi • Warfare, Security, and Democracy in East Asia—B. Cumings • Democracy, Peace; What’s Not to Love?—M. Rupert • Democracy and Peace in the Global Revolution—M. Shaw • The International Relations of Democracy, Liberalism, and War: Directions for Future Research—R. Duvall and J. Weldes.

2001/237 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-955-1      hc £39.50/$52
Critical Security Studies

Democracy, Liberalism, and War: Rethinking the Democratic Peace Debate

Tarak Barkawi and Mark Laffey, editors

Security, Strategy, and Critical Theory

To Order Now

Richard Wyn Jones

“There [has been] a great need for a book which explores directly the relationship between critical theory and security studies. Richard Wyn Jones’s book fills that gap admirably.”

—ERIC HERRING,
INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

“A must-read for anyone engaged in security or strategic studies.... [Wyn Jones] brings a great deal of clarity to critical theory and its application to security studies.”

—CRAIG SNYDER, MILLENNIUM

Laying out the conceptual foundations of critical security studies, Richard Wyn Jones uses the ideas of the Frankfurt School to advance critical thought about security, strategy, and the relationship between the theory and practice of security.

Wyn Jones provides a sophisticated yet accessible overview of the ideas of the Frankfurt School’s main thinkers—Horkheimer, Adorno, Habermas, Honneth, and Beck—and applies their insights to the study of security. His analysis challenges many of the assumptions underlying both the traditional and some alternative approaches to security studies.

Richard Wyn Jones is senior lecturer in the Department of International Politics at the University of Wales, Aberystwyth.

1999/196 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-335-9      hc £18.95/$25

To Order Now

“This book is a small bombshell in the flourishing subfield of ‘democratic peace’ studies.... Henderson writes with vigour and commendable clarity. Democracy and War is unlikely to end the democratic peace debate. But it serves as a provocative and valuable contribution to it, and as an ideal text for undergraduate and graduate courses on peace and war.”

—ADAM JONES, DEMOCRATIZATION

“Henderson proceeds very carefully and his research is extensive. Graduate and undergraduate students as well as policy makers will find [his] work to be an excellent guide.”

—GEORGE KALOUDIS, INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF WORLD PEACE

“This excellent small book sheds new light on one of the most deeply researched areas in political science. Written in a clear style accessible to all readers, whether ‘statistically literate’ or not, it should appeal to IR scholars, as well as to those in comparative politics.... For classes with sections devoted to the democratic peace, this is must reading for teachers and students alike.” —ALLAN C. STAM

Errol Henderson critically examines what has been called the closest thing to an empirical law in world politics, the concept of the democratic peace.

Henderson tests two versions of the democratic peace proposition—that democracies rarely if ever fight one another and that democracies are more peaceful in general than nondemocracies—using exactly the same data and statistical techniques as their proponents. In effect hoisting the thesis on its own petard, he finds that the ostensible “democratic peace” has in fact been the result of a confluence of several processes during the post–World War II era. It seems clear, Henderson maintains, that the presence of democracy is hardly a guarantor of peace—and under certain conditions, it may even increase the probability of war.

Errol A. Henderson is associate professor of political science and associate director of the Correlates of War Project at Pennsylvania State University.

Contents

- The Democratic Peace: Strong Statistics, Weak Theory.
- Are Democracies Unlikely to Fight Each Other?
- Are Democracies More Peaceful than Nondemocracies?
- The Democratic Peace and Extrastate Wars.
- The Democratic Peace and Civil Wars.
- An Alternative Explanation of the Postwar “Democratic Peace.”
- The Democratic Peace: A Great Illusion?

2002/191 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-051-8

hc £36.50/$48

ISBN: 1-58826-076-3

pb £14.95/$19.95

Democracy and War: The End of an Illusion?

Errol A. Henderson

To Order Now

“A valuable contribution to our knowledge and understanding of international crime.”

—MELVIN LEVITSKY, INTERNATIONAL STUDIES REVIEW

Though the provision of illicit goods and services is far from being a new phenomenon, today's global economic environment has allowed transnational organized crime an unprecedented capacity to challenge states. The authors of this book examine the trends underlying the explosion of transnational organized crime and consider possible responses. Emphasizing the difficulties encountered by individual states in their efforts to deal with this security dilemma, they highlight the growing importance of multilateral initiatives.

Mats Berdal is professor of security and development at King's College, University of London. Mónica Serrano is professor of politics at El Colegio de México.

Contents

•Introduction—the Editors.

GLOBALIZATION, ECONOMIC REFORM, AND TRANSNATIONAL ORGANIZED CRIME

•Transnational Organized Crime and International Security: Business as Usual?—M. Serrano.

•Transnational Crime and Economic Globalization—P. Andreas.

•Liberalization and Transnational Financial Crime—M. Levi.

•Cooperation Among Criminal Organizations—P. Williams.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

•The UN Convention Against Transnational Organized Crime—D. Vlassis.

•The OAS and Transnational Organized Crime in the Americas—C. Granada.

•Law-Enforcement Cooperation and Transnational Organized Crime in Europe—M. den Boer.

REGIONAL TRENDS IN TRANSNATIONAL ORGANIZED CRIME

•Liberal Markets and the Republic of Europe: Contextualizing the Growth of Transnational Organized Crime—I. Taylor.

•Transnational Organized Crime and Conflict in the Balkans—T. Köppel and A. Székely.

•From Small-Time Smuggling to Big-Time Racketeering: Turkey and the Middle East—P. Robins.

•From Drug Trafficking to Transnational Organized Crime in Latin America—M. Serrano and M.C. Toro.

•Global Triads: Myth or Reality?—Y.K. Chu.

CONCLUSION

•Transnational Organized Crime and International Security: The New Topography—the Editors.

2002/243 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-090-9

hc £37.95/$49.95

Transnational Organized Crime and International Security: Business as Usual?

Mats Berdal and Mónica Serrano, editors

To Order Now

“[The authors] provide tremendous insights for those seeking greater understanding of how nations interact in periods of uncertainty... This is a comprehensive, illuminating analysis designed for students of international relations, security studies, and world history.”

—PARAMETERS

Tracing the evolution of international relations since the onset of the Cold War, the authors of this innovative new textbook draw on recently available archival resources to vividly narrate world affairs from 1945 to the present.

Events are addressed chronologically, with attention to both their motivations and their significance. The focus is on issues of security in the very broadest sense, ranging from politics and economics to ecological and social problems. A distinctive feature of the text is the clear, concise explanation of the key theories and concepts of international relations, supplemented by an extensive glossary. In tying events to IR theory, the authors succeed in making that theory accessible.

From the Cold War rivalry between the superpowers to the current concerns with global terrorism—including the perspectives of the global south—this is a comprehensive and illuminating analysis designed for students of international relations, security studies, and world history.

Andreas Wenger is professor of international security policy and director of the Center for Security Studies and Conflict Research at the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology Zurich (ETHZ). Doron Zimmermann is senior researcher for the Political Violence Movements Project at ETHZ.

Contents

- Introduction.
- The Prewar International Systems in Historical Perspective.
- The Onset of the Cold War, 1945–1955.
- Confrontation and Fragmentation, 1955–1963.
- New Problems, (C)old War: Three Perspectives, 1963–1968.
- The Rise and Fall of Détente, 1968–1979.
- The Second Cold War and the End of an Era, 1980–1991.
- New Developments in the Emerging International System, 1991–2002.
- Current Affairs.

2003/405 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-098-4

hc £45.50/$59.95

ISBN: 1-58826-074-7

pb £16.95/$23.50

No rights in South Asia

International Relations: From the Cold War to the Globalized World

*Andreas Wenger
and Doron Zimmermann*

To Order Now

“A thorough, well-crafted discussion of the evolution, structures, and politics of European security policy.... ‘The’ book on the subject.”

—CLIVE ARCHER

“Comprehensive and well organized.... The authors do a superb job of covering the most important issues.”

—SETH A. JOHNSTON, EUSA REVIEW

The European Union's ineffectual actions during the Balkan wars of the 1990s have led to increasingly loud calls for this political and economic giant to develop an effective military arm—an integrated force capable of dealing with conflict in Europe's backyard and projecting military power globally. Toward a European Army offers a comprehensive analysis of this “European defence project”: its origins, purpose, and goals.

The authors ask whether a powerful European army should replace U.S. military involvement in Europe and discuss how the respective roles of the various EU countries—especially France, Germany, and Britain—should be defined. They also explore the institutional, military, industrial, and especially political practicalities of defense integration. Throughout, the issue of relations between the EU and NATO looms large.

Should a new European security system linked to the EU replace the status quo? This book equips the reader to thoroughly engage this question.

Trevor C. Salmon is professor of international relations at the University of Aberdeen and for many years a professor at the College of Europe. Alistair J.K. Shepherd is lecturer in contemporary European security at the University of Aberystwyth.

Contents

- The EU's Security and Defence Policy: Why It Is Important.
- Fifty Years of Failure.
- A Successful Relaunch.
- ESDP's Institutions.
- Military Capability: Aspirations and Reality.
- U.S. and NATO Responses.
- Sovereignty, Arms, and Industry.
- Concluding Themes.

---

2003/239 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-236-7    hc £37.95/$49.95

Toward a European Army: A Military Power in the Making?

Trevor C. Salmon and Alistair J.K. Shepherd

To Order Now

Events in Europe over the past decade or so have created a dynamic requiring significant conceptual and practical adjustments on the part of the UN and a range of regional actors, including the EU, NATO, and the OSCE. This volume explores the resulting collaborative relationships in the context of peace operations in the Balkans, considering past efforts and developing specific suggestions for effective future interactions between the UN and its regional partners.

The authors also consider the implications of efforts in Europe for the regionalization of peace and security operations in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

Michael Pugh is director of the International Studies Research Centre at the University of Plymouth (UK). Waheguru Pal Singh Sidhu is professor of international relations at Delhi University.

Contents

- Introduction—the Editors.
- THE UN AND REGIONALIZATION
- The Evolving Architecture of Regionalization—L. Fawcett.
- The World Order Politics of Regionalization—M. Pugh.
- Is the Regionalization of Peace Operations Desirable?—I. Martin.

THE UN, NATO, AND EUROPEAN ORGANIZATIONS

- The UN and NATO: The Logic of Primacy—D.A. Leurdijk.
- The Role of the OSCE and the EU—N. Graeger and A. Novosseloff.
- Russia, the UN, and NATO: Prospects for Cooperation—E. Metzgar and A.Z. Zagorski.

PEACE OPERATIONS IN EUROPE: SECURITY SECTOR REFORM

- Joint Action on Security Challenges in the Balkans—J.G. Cockell.
- Military Forces and Public Security Challenges—P.V. Jakobsen.
- Reviving the Judicial and Penal System in Kosovo—D. Marshall.
- Strengthening Indigenous Police Capacity and the Rule of Law in the Balkans—A.S. Hansen.

COMPARATIVE REGIONAL PERSPECTIVES

- The Regionalization of Peace in Asia—M. Caballero-Anthony.
- Managing Security in the Western Hemisphere: The OAS's New Activism—M. Herz.
- Africa and the Regionalization of Peace Operations—F. Olonisakin and C. Ero.
- CONCLUSION—the Editors.

2003/309 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-207-3 hc £37.95/$49.95

ISBN: 1-58826-232-4 pb £16.95/$22.50

A project of the International Peace Academy

The United Nations and Regional Security: Europe and Beyond

Michael Pugh and Waheguru Pal Singh Sidhu, editors

Looking for a specific book?

Can't find it in this catalog? To make space for our ever-growing list of new books, we have had to leave out some of your old favorites. For information about books not in this catalog just call us at 303-444-6684 with your questions or visit our website, www.rienner.com, and search our complete database by author, title, or keyword.

To Order Now

“A definitive, edited volume of lively debate.... This new and unprecedented anthology ... breaks new ground on U.S. military readiness in a time of war.... Brings together a critical mass of experts of different points of view to debate whether the U.S. military’s gay ban is based on military necessity or prejudice.”

—STONEWALL NEWS NORTHWEST

“[This] book has something for almost every reader—a brief history of gays in the military, serious reasoned commentary on the topic, and heartfelt personal testimonials. All in all it is a good read on an increasingly important and relevant topic.”

—JUANITA M. FIRESTONE, JOURNAL OF POLITICAL AND MILITARY SOCIOLOGY

Conservatives and liberals agree that President Bill Clinton’s effort to lift the military’s gay ban was perhaps one of the greatest blunders of his tenure in office. Conservatives argue that Clinton should have left well enough alone; liberals believe that he should have ordered the military to accept homosexuals rather than agreeing to the compromise “don’t ask, don’t tell” policy. In this ground-breaking book, experts of both persuasions come together to debate the critical aspects of the gays-in-the-military issue.

The participants consider whether homosexuals undermine military performance; whether they threaten heterosexual privacy; and whether the experiences of militaries in other countries have relevance for the United States. They also explore the human, organizational, and dollar costs of the present policy. Belkin and Bateman provide a thorough context for the transcripts of the deliberations, as well as a discussion of the implications of the participants’ conclusions for current U.S. policy.

The project participants: Aaron Belkin, Christopher Dandeker, Michael C. Desch, Lynn Eden, Avner Even-Zohar, Paul Gade, Bronwen Grey, Timothy J. Haggerty, Melissa Sheridan Embser-Herbert, Steve Johnston, Lawrence J. Korb, Robert MacCoun, Steve May, Diane H. Mazur, Laura Miller, Deborah Mulliss, Rob Nunn, C. Dixon Osburn, David Segal, Mady Segal, John Allen Williams.

Aaron Belkin is assistant professor of political science and director, Center for the Study of Sexual Minorities in the Military (CSSMM), at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Geoffrey Bateman is assistant director of CSSMM.

2003/201 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-121-2

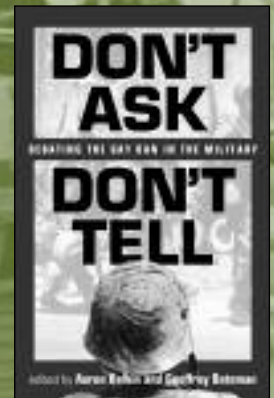

ISBN: 1-58826-146-8

hc £36.50/$48

pb £14.50/$18.95

Don't Ask, Don't Tell: Debating the Gay Ban in the Military

Aaron Belkin and Geoffrey Bateman, editors

“[Sarkesian] takes us through the process and the institutions briefly, clearly, logically.... a most thoughtful and enlightening presentation.”

—INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

“The most easily understood introduction to the U.S. national security process is still Sam C. Sarkesian’s U.S. National Security.”

—MILITARY REVIEW

“Well organized, probing, instructive, and multidimensional in perspective.” —PERSPECTIVES

This thoroughly revised edition of U.S. National Security reflects the most recent changes in the U.S. and global political arenas, in the concept of national security, in the national security establishment, and in national security issues in the aftermath of the September 11 terrorist attacks. It also includes entirely new chapters on civil-military relations and weapons of mass destruction. Unchanged, however, is the book’s lucid presentation of the actors, institutions, and processes involved in U.S. national security.

Sam C. Sarkesian is professor emeritus of political science at Loyola University, Chicago. John Allen Williams is professor of political science at Loyola and executive director of the Inter-University Seminar on Armed Forces and Society. Stephen J. Cimbala is professor of political science at Pennsylvania State University, Delaware County.

Contents

- INTRODUCTION. National Interests and National Security. The International Landscape. The Conflict Spectrum and the American Way of War. The U.S. Political System.
- THE NATIONAL SECURITY ESTABLISHMENT. The President and the Presidency. The Policy Triad and the National Security Council. The Military Establishment. Civil-Military Relations. The Intelligence Establishment.
- THE NATIONAL SECURITY SYSTEM AND THE POLICY PROCESS. The Policy Process. The President and Congress. Empowering the People. Who’s Who in the International System.
- CONCLUSIONS. Long-Range Issues of National Security. National Security and Nuclear Weapons. Making the System Work. The Study of National Security: The Presidential Mandate.

2002/331 pages

ISBN: 1-55587-911-X hc £45.50/$59.95

ISBN: 1-55587-936-5 pb £17.95/$23.50

U.S. National Security: Policymakers, Processes, and Politics

*Sam C. Sarkesian,
John Allen Williams,
and
Stephen J. Cimbala*

To Order Now

CHOICE OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC BOOK!

“[A] rigorous, timely and sobering account of UN Security Council-imposed sanctions.”
—ROSS H. McLEOD,
AUSTRALIAN JOURNAL OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

“Essential reading for anyone interested in the future of multilateral economic sanctions.”
—NORRIN M. RIPSAN,
INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL

Following on the publication of The Sanctions Decade—lauded as the definitive history and accounting of UN sanctions in the 1990s—David Cortright and George Lopez continue their collaboration to examine the changing context and meaning of sanctions and the security dilemmas that the Security Council now faces.

Cortright and Lopez note that, despite widespread disagreement about the effectiveness of UN sanctions and the need for reform, the Security Council continues to impose sanctions, and it maintains ongoing measures in eight countries. Exploring the dynamics of recent developments, the authors assess a range of new multilateral approaches to sanctions and economic statecraft, review the heated debate over the humanitarian impact of sanctions, and consider the increasingly important role of NGOs in UN policymaking. They conclude with a framework for future policy, as well as specific recommendations for enhancing the viability of “smart sanctions” strategies.

David Cortright is president of the Fourth Freedom Forum and research fellow at the Joan B. Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, University of Notre Dame. George A. Lopez is director of policy studies and faculty senior fellow at the Kroc Institute.

2002/249 pages
ISBN: 1-58826-053-4 hc £37.95/$49.95
ISBN: 1-58826-078-X pb £14.50/$18.95
A project of the International Peace Academy

Sanctions and the Search for Security: Challenges to UN Action

David Cortright and George A. Lopez, with Linda Gerber

To Order Now

The Sanctions Decade: Assessing UN Strategies in the 1990s

David Cortright and George A. Lopez

“This book is a key reference on an essential topic.”
—JOURNAL OF PEACE RESEARCH

“Perhaps most importantly, the work of Cortright and Lopez allows the reader to better understand what does, rather than what does not, lead to the implementation of a successful sanctions regime.”
—MICHAEL H. CARRIÈRE, INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

“Given that the superiority of multilateral measures has become something of a mantra in the sanctions debate, a book subjecting UN sanctions to the same rigorous analysis that unilateral ones have undergone is long overdue. With their new book, The Sanctions Decade, David Cortright and George Lopez fill this gap.” —MEGHAN L. O’SULLIVAN, SURVIVAL

“Does the world really need another book on this topic? The somewhat surprising answer to this question is yes—if the book in question is The Sanctions Decade by Cortright and Lopez.... An excellent and needed addition to the sanctions literature.” —CHOICE

Since the end of the Cold War, economic sanctions have been a frequent instrument of UN authority, imposed by the Security Council against nearly a dozen targets. Some efforts appear to have been successful, others are more doubtful—all, though, have been controversial. This book, based on more than two hundred interviews with officials from the UN and sanctioned countries and with other involved actors, provides the first comprehensive assessment of the effectiveness of UN sanctions during the 1990s.

The authors develop a set of criteria for judging the full impact of sanctions—political, economic, and humanitarian—and then provide detailed studies of eleven cases. They conclude with far-reaching recommendations for increasing the viability of sanctions as a productive diplomatic tool.

David Cortright is president of the Fourth Freedom Forum and a research fellow at the Joan B. Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, University of Notre Dame. George A. Lopez is director of policy studies and faculty senior fellow at the Kroc Institute.

2000/274 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-867-9 pb £14.50/$18.95
A project of the International Peace Academy

“Encyclopedic in scope and authoritative in analysis.... everyone who cares about the future role of the United Nations and the international rule of law will want to read this book.”

—JOHN G. RUGGIE

“It is hard to imagine a more timely volume. This is a must read for any serious student or scholar of the United Nations, or indeed anyone pondering the relative success or failure of the international community’s grand experiment in regulating the use of force by law.”

—ANNE-MARIE SLAUGHTER

“David Malone has assembled an extraordinarily talented group of authors.... This is a key work for any who want to be informed about the United Nations.”

—JOSEPH S. NYE

The nature and scope of UN Security Council decisions—significantly changed in the post-Cold War era—have enormous implications for the conduct of foreign policy. The UN Security Council offers a comprehensive view of the council both internally and as a key player in world politics.

Focusing on the evolution of the council’s treatment of key issues, the authors discuss new concerns that must be accommodated in the decisionmaking process, the challenges of enforcement, and shifting personal and institutional factors. Case studies complement the rich thematic chapters. The book sheds much-needed light on the central events and trends of the past decade and their critical importance for the future role of the council and the UN in the sphere of international security.

David M. Malone is president of the International Peace Academy.

Contents

- Introduction—D.M. Malone.
- Security Council Decisions in Perspective—P. Wallensteen and P. Johansson.
- SECURITY COUNCIL DECISIONMAKING: NEW CONCERNS. The Humanitarian Impulse—T.G. Weiss. Human Rights—J. Weschler. Democratization—G.H. Fox. Tackling Terrorism—E.C. Luck. Conflict Prevention—E.M. Cousens. Armed Nonstate Actors—A. Franco.
- ENFORCING COUNCIL MANDATES. The Use of Force—A. Roberts. The Authorization

Model: Resolution 678 and Its Effects—F. Berman. Reforming Sanctions—D. Cortright and G.A. Lopez. The Iraq Sanctions Committee—P. van Walsum. The Angola Sanctions Committee—D.J.R. Angell. Weapons of Mass Destruction: The Iraqi Case—P. Teixeira da Silva. Virtual Trusteeship—S. Chesterman.

•EVOLVING INSTITUTIONAL FACTORS. Council Working Methods—S.C. Hulton. The Permanent and Elected Council Members—K. Mahbubani. The UN Secretary-General—M. Goulding. International Tribunals and Courts—P. Kirsch, J.T. Holmes, and M. Johnson. Collaborating with Regional Organizations—S. Forman and A. Grene. Groups of Friends—T. Whitfield. Special Representatives of the Secretary-General—C. Peck. Pressure for Security Council Reform—B. Fassbender. The U.S. in the Security Council: A Faustian Bargain?—F. Rawski and N. Miller. Working with Nongovernmental Organizations—J.A. Paul.

•MAJOR UN OPERATIONS ON FOUR CONTINENTS. The Middle East Peace Process—B.D. Jones. Namibia—C. Thornberry. El Salvador—B. Antonini. Mozambique—A. Ajello and P. Wittmann. Bosnia—M. Berdal. Haiti—S. von Einsiedel and D.M. Malone. Rwanda—H. Adelman and A. Subrke. Rwanda: An Insider’s Account—C. Keating. Rwanda: An African Perspective—I.A. Gambari. Sierra Leone—J. Hirsch. Kosovo—P. Heinbecker. East Timor—S. Eldon. East Timor: A Field Perspective—I. Martin. Ethiopia/Eritrea—A. Adebajo.

•IMPLICATIONS. The Security Council and International Law—S.R. Ratner. The Security Council in the 21st Century—C.R. Hume. Conclusion—D.M. Malone.

2004/746 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-215-4

hc £49.50/$65

ISBN: 1-58826-240-5

pb £22.95/$29.95

A project of the International Peace Academy

The UN Security Council: From the Cold War to the 21st Century

David M. Malone,
editor

Order

Greed and Grievance: Economic Agendas in Civil Wars

Mats Berdal and David M. Malone, editors

“Readers of this book will find it a source of much stimulation for research and reflection.”

—ANTHONY JAMES JOES, CONTEMPORARY SECURITY POLICY

“Provides a fresh view on links between large-scale criminal activities and armed conflicts, the role of the private sector in war economies, and the lack of an international legal regime to deal with white-collar war profiteers.”

—PHILIPPE LE BILLO, HARVARD INTERNATIONAL REVIEW

This pathbreaking volume identifies the economic and social factors underlying the perpetuation of civil wars, exploring as well the economic incentives and disincentives available to international actors seeking to restore peace to war-torn societies.

Mats Berdal is professor of security and development at King’s College, University of London. David M. Malone is president of the International Peace Academy.

Contents

Introduction—the Editors. • APPROACHES TO THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF CIVIL WARS. Incentives and Disincentives for Violence—D. Keen. Shadow States and the Political Economy of Civil Wars—W. Reno. Globalization, Transborder Trade, and War Economies—M. Duffield. Doing Well Out of War: An Economic Perspective—P. Collier. Are Civil Wars Driven by Rapacity or Paucity?—I. de Soysa. The View from Below—M. Mwanasali. • CONFRONTING ECONOMIC AGENDAS IN CIVIL WARS. Arms, Elites, and Resources in the Angolan Civil War—V. Gamba and R. Cornwell. Targeted Financial Sanctions—S.D. Porteous. Aiding or Abetting?: Humanitarian Aid and Its Economic Role in Civil War—D. Shearer. Can International Criminal Law Help?—T. Farer.

2000/251 pages

ISBN: 1-55587-892-X hc £37.95/$49.95

ISBN: 1-55587-868-7 pb £14.95/$19.95

A project of the International Peace Academy

No rights in Canada

Order

The Political Economy of Armed Conflict: Beyond Greed and Grievance

Karen Ballentine and Jake Sherman, editors

“This book is a huge step forward in the debate over the roles of ‘greed’ and ‘grievance’ in recent civil wars. The authors’ conceptual essays and case studies carefully examine the ways that economic opportunities and political competition combine to shape the likelihood, character, and duration of intrastate armed conflict.” —JACK SNYDER

Karen Ballentine is a consultant on the political economy of civil wars. Jake Sherman is political affairs officer in the office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General, UN Assistance Mission in Afghanistan.

Contents

Introduction—the Editors. • ECONOMICS AND CONFLICT: EXPLORING THE RELATIONSHIP. The Political Economy of Conflict and UN Intervention: Rethinking the Critical Cases of Africa—C. Cater. Oil, Drugs, and Diamonds: The Varying Roles of Natural Resources in Civil War—M.L. Ross. • CASE STUDIES. The Colombian Conflict: Political and Economic Dimensions—A. Guaqueta. Nepal: Economic Drivers of the Maoist Insurgency—J. Bray, L. Lunde, and S.M. Murshed. The Bougainville Conflict: Political and Economic Agendas—A.J. Regan. Kosovo: The Political Economy of Conflict and Peacebuilding—A. Yannis. Sri Lanka: Feeding the Tamil Tigers—R. Gunaratna. Burma: Lessons from the Cease-Fires—J. Sherman. • CONCLUSION. Beyond Greed and Grievance: Reconsidering the Economic Dynamics of Armed Conflict—K. Ballentine.

2003/317 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-197-2 hc £41.95/$55

ISBN: 1-58826-172-7 pb £16.95/$22.50

A project of the International Peace Academy

Order

War Economies in a Regional Context: Challenges of Transformation

Michael Pugh and Neil Cooper, with Jonathan Goodhand

Confronting the corrosive influence that war economies typically have on the prospects for peace in wartorn societies, this study critically analyzes current policy responses and offers a thought-provoking foundation for the development of more effective peace-building strategies.

The authors focus on the role played by trade in precipitating and fueling conflict, with particular emphasis on the regional dynamics that are created by war economies. Their analysis highlights the darker side of the commitment to deregulation, open markets, and the expansion of trade routes that are key features of globalization.

In each of three case studies—Sierra Leone, Afghanistan, and Bosnia—the authors examine the nature of the war economy, the regional networks developed to support it, its legacies, and the impact of initiatives to transform it. That transformation, they argue, a process central to the transition from violent conflict to sustainable peace, can best be achieved through approaches that recognize critical regional factors.

Michael Pugh is director of the Plymouth International Studies Centre at the University of Plymouth (UK). Neil Cooper is principal lecturer in international relations at the University of Plymouth. Jonathan Goodhand is lecturer in development practice at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London.

2004/273 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-251-0 hc £41.95/$55

ISBN: 1-58826-211-1 pb £16.50/$22

A project of the International Peace Academy

They are part of rebel factions, national armies, paramilitaries, and other armed groups and entrenched in some of the most violent conflicts around the globe. They are in some ways still children—yet, from Afghanistan to Sierra Leone to Northern Ireland, you can find them among the fighters. Why?

Young Soldiers explores the reasons that adolescents who are neither physically forced nor abducted choose to join armed groups. Drawing on in-depth interviews with the soldiers themselves, the authors challenge conventional wisdom to offer a thought-provoking account of the role that war, poverty, education, politics, identity, family, and friends all play in driving these young men and women to join military life. They also address the important issues of demobilization and the reintegration process.

International in scope, covering a variety of situations in Afghanistan, Colombia, Congo-Brazzaville, Democratic Republic of Congo, Pakistan, Sierra Leone, South Africa, Sri Lanka, and the United Kingdom, Young Soldiers concludes with a discussion of the steps needed to create an environment in which adolescents are no longer “forced” to volunteer.

Rachel Brett is representative for human rights and refugees at the Quaker United Nations Office in Geneva. She is also a fellow of the Human Rights Centre at Essex University. Irma Specht is an anthropologist working at the International Labour Organization, where she is responsible for program development, research, and policy issues dealing with the reintegration of excombatants.

Contents

- Introduction.
- The Broad Context.
- The Life of the Prospective Recruit.
- The Critical Moment.
- A Complex of Risk Factors.
- Girls and Boys.
- The Concept of Volunteering.
- Conclusion.

2004/192 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-285-5

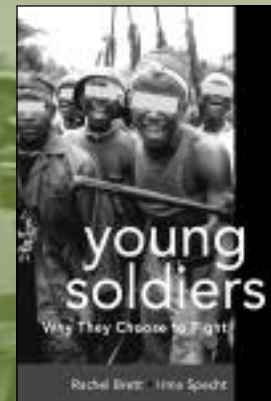

ISBN: 1-58826-261-8

hc £33.95/$45

pb £13.50/$17.95

Young Soldiers: Why They Choose To Fight

Rachel Brett and Irma Specht

The voices of young soldiers . . .

“I personally believe that when people are young, others can abuse them. It is my very unfortunate fate that I was drawn into wars. If instead of war skills, I knew other skills and knowledge, now I could use my knowledge and expertise. Then today I would be an engineer or doctor or something else useful for my society and myself.”

—JAVAD, Afghanistan

“I want to advise people who want to be rebel fighters, young soldiers, that they should learn from what we have gone through, which is too sad an experience. Those children younger than we are should never again be involved in such a life anymore... What I have seen and undergone is not for a child to experience.”

—ARTHUR, Sierra Leone

To Order Now

NEW!

The causes of violent conflict, as well as approaches to conflict prevention, have been studied extensively, but only recently has attention been given to the subregional dynamics of internal wars. The authors of this original collection explore conflicts in Africa, Central Asia, and Central America, seeking new insights that can provide the foundation for more nuanced, more effective preventive strategies.

Chandra Lekha Sriram is lecturer in international relations at the University of St. Andrews (Scotland). Zoe Nielsen is associate director and senior editor of the Human Security Report at the Liu Institute for Global Issues, University of British Columbia.

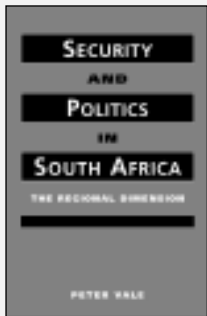

Contents

- Introduction: Why Examine Subregional Sources and Dynamics of Conflict?—the Editors.
- Understanding Conflicts in the Horn of Africa—E.J. Keller.
- Stability and Change in Central Asia—G. Gleason.
- Sources of Conflict in West Africa—C. Ero.
- Dynamics of Conflict in Central America—C.L. Sriram.
- Implications for Conflict Prevention—Zoe Nielsen.

September 2004/ca. 210 pages
ISBN: 1-58826-243-X hc £37.95/$49.95
ISBN: 1-58826-219-7 pb £14.95/$19.95
A project of the International Peace Academy

Exploring Subregional Conflict: Opportunities for Conflict Prevention

Chandra Lekha Sriram and Zoe Nielsen, editors

Security and Politics in South Africa: The Regional Dimension

To Order Now

Peter Vale

“A challenging and interesting contribution to the literature on security in southern Africa, which succeeds in broadening the debate about the region’s possible futures.”

—RITA ABRAHAMSEN,
JOURNAL OF MODERN AFRICAN STUDIES

“A challenging, stimulating, and important work, incorporating a profound critique of South African approaches to security-making both before and after the demise of apartheid... Vale offers some intriguing pointers toward a different and more hopeful vision of community and security in the region.” —DAVID BLACK

In this analysis of South Africa’s postapartheid security system, Peter Vale moves beyond a realist discussion of interacting states to examine southern Africa as an integrated whole.

Vale argues that, despite South Africa’s manipulation of state structures and elites in the region for its own ends, the suffering endured under the apartheid regime drew the region together at the popular level; and economic factors, such as the use of migrant labor, reinforced the process of integration. Exploring how the region is changing today—as transnational solidarity and a single regional economy remove the distinctions between national and international politics—he asks whether South African domination can finally be overcome and considers what sort of cosmopolitan political arrangement will be appropriate for southern Africa in the new century.

Peter Vale is the Nelson Mandela Professor of Politics at Rhodes University, South Africa.

2003/251 pages
ISBN: 1-58826-115-8 hc £40.50/$53

Order

Militant Islam in Southeast Asia

Zachary Abuza

“Excellent and timely.... Abuza explores and masterfully details the origins of various terrorist cells and their connections throughout Southeast Asia to larger networks such as al-Qaeda.... A significant contribution, highly recommended for those interested in al-Qaeda and militant Islam in Southeast Asia.” —CHOICE

“Chilling and essential reading for both professionals and general readers concerned with the ongoing struggle against terrorism.” —JAY FREEMAN, BOOKLIST

“Abuza often risked his life to gain access to high quality information—information at times unknown to even the intelligence community. He has written the standard text on violent Islamist groups in Southeast Asia.” —ROHAN GUNARATNA

“This may well become the standard reference on everything happening in the Southeast Asian theater of the world terror crisis.” —W. SCOTT THOMPSON

Drawing on intensive on-the-ground investigation and interviews with key militants, Zachary Abuza explains the emergence of radical Islamist groups in Southeast Asia, and explores individual and multilateral state responses to the growing Islamic political consciousness.

Abuza also analyzes state strategies for combating, co-opting, or coping with militant Islamist groups. A key question here is whether state actors are trying to resolve the root causes of Muslim disaffection—or merely using the “war on terrorism” to suppress the symptoms.

Zachary Abuza is assistant professor of international politics at Simmons College.

2003/281 pages

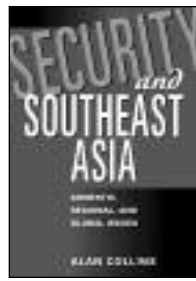

ISBN: 1-58826-212-X

hc £41.95/$55

ISBN: 1-58826-237-5

pb £14.95/$19.95

No rights in South Asia

Order

Security and Southeast Asia: Domestic, Regional, and Global Issues

Alan Collins

“Dr. Collins’ new book fulfils the longstanding need for a text that analyzes both traditional and nontraditional security issues in Southeast Asia. Written with clarity, it offers an in-depth investigation into societal, national, and regional security dynamics.” —AMITAV ACHARYA

From internal oppression in Burma to interstate conflict in the South China Sea, the people of Southeast Asia face a range of threats. This book identifies and explains the security challenges—both traditional and nontraditional—confronting the region.

Collins addresses the full spectrum of security issues, discussing the impact of ethnic tensions and competing political ideologies, the evolving role of ASEAN, and Southeast Asia’s interactions with key external actors (China, Japan, and the U.S.). The final section of the book explores how the region’s security issues are reflected in two current cases: the South China Sea dispute and the “war on terrorism.”

Alan Collins is lecturer in the Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Wales Swansea.

Contents

• Introduction: Security and Southeast Asia • Societal Security and Ethnic Tensions • Political Security and Regime Legitimacy • Traditional and Nontraditional Security • Achieving Security the “ASEAN Way” • From Arms Length to All in Together: Managing Extraregional Powers • Security Broadly Cast: From the South China Sea to the War on Terrorism.

2003/245 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-210-3

hc £37.95/$49.95

ISBN: 1-58826-235-9

pb £14.95/$19.95

No rights in South & Southeast Asia

NEW!

Order

Japan’s Security Agenda: Military, Economic, and Environmental Dimensions

Christopher W. Hughes

“Chris Hughes’s unprecedented analysis of Japan’s ‘comprehensive security’ policies provides an integrated, systematic approach to the linked military, economic, and environmental security policies of Asia’s most important state.... It is extraordinarily deep and rich in the details it provides on all aspects of Japan’s policies, their causes and implications. Simply, it is a tour de force.” —ELLIS S. KRAUSS

“An intellectually stimulating and very well researched piece of work.... This is a thorough and accessible contribution to the literature on Japan’s foreign and security policy.” —JÜRGEN HAACKE

Long constrained as a security actor by constitutional as well as external factors, Japan now increasingly is called to play a greater role in stabilizing both the Asia-Pacific region and the entire international system. Japan’s Security Agenda explores the country’s diplomatic, political, military, and economic concerns and policies within this new context.

Does Japan’s multidimensional and comprehensive approach to security policy offer a viable alternative paradigm to that of the traditional U.S. and European, military-dominated model? Hughes’s theoretical and empirical illustrations demonstrate the benefits and drawbacks to such an approach in an era of globalization.

Christopher W. Hughes is research fellow in the Centre for the Study of Globalisation and Regionalisation at the University of Warwick.

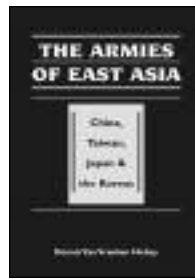

2004/287 pages

ISBN: 1-58826-260-X

hc £41.95/$55

Order

Order

Order

Japan's Navy: Politics and Paradox, 1971-2000

Peter J. Woolley, with a foreword by James E. Auer

"Defense policy in Japan is a subtle subject requiring specialist cultural 'feel' and understanding. This Woolley amply provides.... The author has done an excellent job in analysing the evolution of what might be call the higher aspects of naval policy in Japan in the later Cold War years and the immediate post—Cold War era.... A highly significant contribution to the still limited literature on a navy of growing significance."

—ERIC GROVE,
NORTHERN MARINER: JOURNAL OF THE CANADIAN NAUTICAL RESEARCH SOCIETY

"An excellent reference for anyone wanting to understand Japanese defense policy and the forces that affect it."

—ROBERT MORABITO,
NAVAL WAR COLLEGE REVIEW

"Woolley's profound understanding of culture and systems in Japanese society and politics is strongly reflected throughout the book, giving a brilliant insight into his analyses on the making of Japan's defense policies."

—ISOKO SUNAKAWA, JOURNAL OF CONFLICT STUDIES

Japan's navy, after that of the United States, is now the most potent in the Pacific Ocean. This book examines the development and potential of the Japanese navy in the context of the U.S.-Japan alliance.

Peter J. Woolley is associate professor of comparative politics at Fairleigh Dickinson University.

2000/166 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-819-9 hc £21.50/$28.50

The Armies of East Asia: China, Taiwan, Japan, and the Koreans

Dennis Van Vranken Hickey

"This book should be considered a fundamental text for Pentagon planners as they rethink strategy toward Asia in the coming years.... The case chapters are filled with potential comparative insights that suggest fruitful avenues of inquiry for future researchers."

—MARY P. CALLAHAN,
AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE REVIEW

"A useful and ambitious book that deserves a wide audience.... A balanced, even-handed introduction to the defense policies of Northeast Asia and U.S. security interests in the region."

—ANDREW SCOBELL,
JOURNAL OF ASIAN STUDIES

This comprehensive study provides a detailed analysis of the military buildup in the East Asian countries: China, Taiwan, Japan, and North and South Korea. Hickey assesses the capabilities, strategies, intentions, and performance of each government's military in the context of the potential for regional instability and conflict. In his concluding chapter, he also explores U.S. objectives in the region and examines the implications of recent developments for U.S. foreign policy.

Dennis Van Vranken Hickey is professor of political science at Southwest Missouri State University.

2001/273 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-992-6 hc £22.95/$29.95

China and India: Cooperation or Conflict?

Waheguru Pal Singh Sidhu
and Jing-dong Yuan

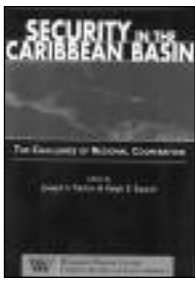

The hardline view of Sino-Indian relations found in the published reports of Indian and Chinese security analysts is often at considerable odds with the more tempered opinions those same analysts express in private interviews and conversations. What is the reality of the increasingly important security relationship between the two countries? The authors of this new study address that question in depth.

Waheguru Pal Singh Sidhu is professor of international relations at Delhi University. Jing-dong Yuan is senior research associate at the Center for Nonproliferation Studies, Monterey Institute of International Studies.

Contents

- Introduction • Imprisoned by History • Locked in an (In)Security Complex • A Complex Ménage à Trois: China, India, and the United States • The Long and Winding Road to Cooperative Security • Decisionmaking in a Time of Popular Indifference • Conclusion: Learning To Do Business.

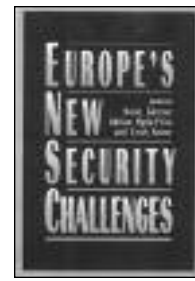

2003/205 pages
ISBN: 1-58826-193-X hc £33.95/$45
ISBN: 1-58826-169-7 pb £14.50/$18.95
A project of the International Peace Academy
and the Monterey Institute of International Studies
No rights in South Asia

Order

Order

Order

Security in the Caribbean Basin: The Challenge of Regional Cooperation

Joseph S. Tulchin and Ralph H. Espach, editors

“This book should be mandatory reading for any college course on the Caribbean region and is a model for short, excellent texts in regional security studies.” —RUSSELL W. RAMSEY, PARAMETERS

Since the end of the Cold War, the security environment of the Caribbean Basin has dramatically changed from the containment of communism to a series of transnational threats—drug trafficking, migratory flows, economic crises, natural disasters—that demand cooperative, multilateral policies. This in turn, argue the authors of Security in the Caribbean Basin, calls for a redefinition of such basic concepts as sovereignty and the nature of national and regional security interests, and a reevaluation of such basic issues as the role of the military in a democracy and the nature of the region’s ties to the United States.

Addressing these concerns, and offering both scholarly analysis and operational perspectives, the authors provide a theoretical and practical framework for the development of a more cooperative security system in the region.

Joseph S. Tulchin is director of the Latin American Program at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars. Ralph H. Espach is program associate at the Woodrow Wilson Center.

2000/232 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-884-9 pb £13.50/$17.95
Woodrow Wilson Center Current Studies on Latin America

Enlarging NATO: The National Debates

Gale A. Mattox and Arthur R. Rachwald, editors

“Recommended at all levels.” —CHOICE

“An excellent survey of national debates on NATO enlargement in a well-chosen set of countries.... This book provides invaluable guidance for pondering whether, when, and how to proceed to that mooted second round of enlargement.” —DAVID G. HAGLUND

Thoroughly examining the deliberations over NATO enlargement in twelve countries, the authors shed light on the political motives leading to each country’s position. Their comparative analysis explores the interaction of domestic and international issues that is at the core of efforts to reshape the security map of Europe.

Gale A. Mattox and Arthur R. Rachwald are professors of political science at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Contents

Introduction—the Editors. • ACCEPTING NEW ALLIES? The United States: Stability Through Engagement and Enlargement—G.A. Mattox. Germany: Consensus Politics and Changing Security Paradigms—D.J. Whitenack. France: NATO’s “Renovation” and Enlargement—P. Gallis. The United Kingdom: Making Strategic Adjustments—Sir T. Garden. Italy: Uneasy Ally—R. Menotti. • SECURING NEW REALITIES. Poland: Returning to Europe—M.A. Piotrowski and A.R. Rachwald. Hungary: Building National Consensus—C. Töro. Czech Republic: A Pan-European Perspective—R. Khol. • ACCEPTING NEW REALITIES. Russia: Facing the Facts—J. Kobrinskaya. Ukraine: Between NATO and Russia—M. Kopylenko. Romania: The Quest for Membership—M. Cernicova-Buca. Estonia: Confronting Geostategic Limits—B. Schürmann. • CONCLUSION. New Realities, New Challenges—G.A. Mattox.

2001/324 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-908-X hc £45.50/$59.95

Europe’s New Security Challenges

Heinz Gärtner, Adrian Hyde-Price, and Erich Reiter, editors

“Will prove to be valuable to scholars working in a myriad of academic disciplines.” —JONATHAN ERIC LEWIS, EUSA REVIEW

Heinz Gärtner is senior researcher at the Austrian Institute for International Affairs. Adrian Hyde-Price is chair of politics and international relations at the University of Leicester. Erich Reiter is professor of international economic and social relations at the University of Graz.

Contents

Introduction—H. Gärtner and A. Hyde-Price. Security Studies in the 21st Century—A. Hyde-Price. Complexity Theory and European Security—W.C. Clemens Jr. Modern Technology and the Future of the Soldier—D. Robertson. New Conflicts—J.W. Honig. • EUROPEAN SECURITY. Europe’s Changing Security Role—A.M. Rusi. The Transatlantic Link and Crisis Management—H. Gärtner. The Compatibility of Security Organizations and Policies—P. Schmidt. Strengthening Europe’s Security Architecture—H. Borchert. • THE OSCE. An Evaluation of the OSCE’s Role in Conflict Management—P.T. Hopmann. Political Will, Public Relations, and the OSCE—W. Kemp. The OSCE’s High Commissioner on National Minorities—W. Zellner. • REGIONAL SECURITY. The Challenge of Collective Action—K. Möttölä. Arms Control: Challenges Around the Baltic Rim—P. Joenniemi. How the Return of Geopolitics to Central Asia Affects European Security—E. Reiter. Peace Operations—E.A. Schmidl. • THE ROLE OF MAJOR POWERS. Great Powers and Global Insecurity—D.N. Nelson. Farewell to Russia: The Decay of a Superpower—G. Mangott. China: Global or Regional Player?—K. Möller.

2001/470 pages
ISBN: 1-55587-905-5 hc £49.50/$65
ISBN: 1-55587-930-6 pb £16.95/$23.50

INDEX

- Abuza, Zachary, 25
Armies of East Asia, The, 26
Armies Without States, 10
Arms Control, 7
Arms Dynamic in World Politics, The, 2
- Ballentine, Karen, 22
Barkawi, Tarak, 12
Bateman, Geoffrey, 18
Belkin, Aaron, 18
Berdal, Mats, 11, 14, 22
Booth, Ken, 3
Brett, Rachel, 23
Buzan, Barry, 2
- China and India*, 26
Cimbala, Stephen J., 19
Coker, Christopher, 9
Collins, Alan, 25
Cooper, Neil, 22
Cortright, David, 20
Critical Security Studies and World Politics, 3
- de Wilde, Jaap, 2
Democracy and War, 13
Democracy, Liberalism, and War, 12
Don't Ask, Don't Tell, 18
- Economides, Spyros, 11
Enlarging NATO, 27
Espach, Ralph H., 27
- Europe's New Security Challenges*, 27
Exploring Subregional Conflict, 24
- Farrell, Theo, 8
- Gärtner, Heinz, 27
Gerber, Linda, 20
Goodhand, Jonathan, 22
Greed and Grievance, 22
- Henderson, Errol A., 13
Herring, Eric, 2
Hickey, Dennis Van Vranken, 26
Hughes, Christopher W., 25
Hyde-Price, Adrian, 27
- International Relations*, 15
International Security, 1
- Japan's Navy*, 26
Japan's Security Agenda, 25
- Laffey, Mark, 12
Larsen, Jeffrey A., 7
Lopez, George A., 20
- Malone, David M., 21, 22
Mandel, Robert, 4, 10
Mattox, Gale A., 27
McInnes, Colin, 6
Men, Militarism, and UN Peace - keeping, 5
Militant Islam in Southeast Asia, 25
- Nielsen, Zoe, 24
- Political Economy of Armed Conflict, The*, 22
Pugh, Michael, 17, 22
- Rachwald, Arthur R., 27
Reiter, Erich, 27
- Salmon, Trevor C., 16
Sanctions and the Search for Security, 20
Sanctions Decade, The, 20
Sarkesian, Sam C., 19
Security, 2
Security and Politics in South Africa, 24
Security and Southeast Asia, 25
Security in the Caribbean Basin, 27
Security, Strategy, and Critical Theory, 12
Security, Strategy, and the Quest for Bloodless War, 4
Serrano, Mónica, 14
Sheehan, Michael, 1
Shepherd, Alistair J. K., 16
Sherman, Jake, 22
Sidhu, Waheguru Pal Singh, 17, 26
Sources of Military Change, The, 8
Specht, Irma, 23
Spectator-Sport War, 6
Sriram, Chandra Lekha, 24
- Strategic Thinking*, 11
- Terriff, Terry, 8
Toward a European Army, 16
Transnational Organized Crime and International Security, 14
Tulchin, Joseph S., 27
- U.S. National Security*, 19
UN Security Council, The, 21
United Nations and Regional Security, The, 17
- Vale, Peter, 24
- Waging War Without Warriors? 9 War Economies in a Regional Context*, 22
Wenger, Andreas, 15
Whitworth, Sandra, 5
Williams, John Allen, 19
Windsor, Philip, 11
Wæver, Ole, 2
Woolley, Peter J., 26
Wyn Jones, Richard, 12
- Young Soldiers*, 23
Yuan, Jing-dong, 26
- Zimmermann, Doron, 15

THE NONPROLIFERATION REVIEW

SCOTT PARRISH,
EDITOR

THE NONPROLIFERATION REVIEW is a refereed journal concerned with the causes, consequences, and control of the spread of weapons of mass destruction (WMD). The REVIEW features case studies, theoretical analyses, and policy debates on such issues as individual country programs, treaties and export controls, WMD terrorism, and the economic and environmental effects of weapons proliferation.

Representing authors from many regions and disciplines, the REVIEW has proven to be an essential resource for policymakers and scholars worldwide.

"Should be required reading for anyone interested in meeting the increased threats posed by the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and terrorism in the post-September 11 world."

—REPRESENTATIVE ELLEN
TAUSCHER, HOUSE ARMED SERVICES
COMMITTEE

THE NONPROLIFERATION REVIEW • ISSN: 1073-6700
Volume 11, 2004 (three issues per year)

Institutions: $85 • Individuals: $45 • Students: $27
Subscribers outside the U.S., please add $12.

Ordering Information

Examination Copies

We will be glad to send you a paperback examination copy for $7.50 (£5 in Europe) to cover postage and handling. Hardcover examination copies are available at a 20% discount plus shipping (see postage rate chart below).

Please limit your request to three books, submit the order on department letterhead, and include the name and number of the course, its anticipated enrollment, when it will be offered, and the book you are currently using.

Desk Copies

We provide desk copies on request to faculty who have adopted an LRP title as a required text in a course, providing the bookstore orders 10 or more copies from LRP. Please include the instructor's name and course enrollment in the request.

Questions

Please contact the LRP Customer Service Department at cservice@rienner.com or at 303-444-6684 with questions or concerns about your order.

Returns

Books may be returned for full credit within 12 months of invoice date if they are in clean, saleable condition and a copy of the invoice or the invoice number is included with the return.

All returns must be shipped to our warehouse:

Lynne Rienner Publishers, Inc.
c/o Books International
22883 Quicksilver Drive
Dulles, VA 20166

To place an order in Australia

Please send orders to:
Palgrave Macmillan Australia
627 Chapel Street
South Yarra, VIC 3141

Tel: 1300 135 113
Fax: 1300 135 103
E-mail: customer.service@macmillan.com.au

For information on academic inspection copies, e-mail palgrave@macmillan.com.au.

To place an order in Europe

Please send orders to:
Lynne Rienner Publishers
3 Henrietta Street • Covent Garden
London WC2E 8LU • UK

Freephone (UK residents only): 0800-526-830
Tel: (44) 207-240-0856
Fax: (44) 207-379-0609
E-mail: orders@edspubs.co.uk

For information on academic inspection copies, contact Imogen Adams at the LRP London address above.

Speed your order:

Call: 303-444-6684

Fax: 303-444-0824

Visit: www.rienner.com

LYNNE RIENNER PUBLISHERS
1800 30th Street, Suite 314 • Boulder, CO 80301-1026 • USA

Order Form

1.

Ship to (please print legibly):

Name: _____

Address: _____

City/State/Zip Code: _____

(Please include your 4-digit zip code extension.)

Country: _____ Telephone: _____

Fax: _____ E-mail: _____

2.

Method of Payment (orders from individuals must be prepaid):

Check enclosed (U.S. $, drawn on a U.S. bank, payable to Lynne Rienner Publishers)

Charge my credit card:  VISA  MasterCard

Card No. _____ Exp. _____

Signature _____

Purchase Order enclosed (please attach to this order form)

3.

I wish to order the following items:

ISBN (last 6 digits) Qty Author & Title Price Total

Each Price

ISBN (last 6 digits)	Qty	Author & Title	Price Each	Total Price

Postage Rate Chart

U.S., Canada, and Mexico	One Book	Each Add'l Book
	$3.75	$1.00
All Other Areas:
<input type="checkbox"/> Surface	$5.00	$2.00
<input type="checkbox"/> Airmail	$12.00	$5.00

Remember, postage is included in the price of exam copies

Subtotal _____

Colorado residents add 3% sales tax _____

Shipping _____

TOTAL _____

Prices subject to change without notice. Please allow two weeks for delivery of books in stock.

Visit our website at www.rienner.com
for complete information on all the titles in this catalog!

NEW

See page 1

NEW

See page 4

NEW

See page 5

NEW

See page 21

LYNNE RIENNER PUBLISHERS
1800 30th Street, Suite 314 (424-3 2 1)
Boulder, CO 80301 U.S.A.

PRSR STD
U.S. Postage
PAID
Boulder, CO 803
Permit No. 507