Latino Political Power

Sharon A. Navarro and Kim Geron

Praise for the 1st edition:

“Provides a solid foundation for anyone interested in exploring the complexities of the growing Latino political power in the United States.” —Jacqueline M. Hayes, Latino(a) Research Review

“A valuable inclusion for any introductory course charting the political history of the Latino population of the United States.” —Alex Goodall, Journal of American Studies

“A great start for anyone interested in learning more about the development of Latina/o politics. Highly recommended.” —Choice

This new, fully revised edition of Latino Political Power reflects a diverse community evolving in its ethnic, racial, and sexual identities, as well as in its voting behavior and party affiliations.

Sharon Navarro and Kim Geron map the transformation of Latino political power from the 1960s to the present. Comprehensive and accessible, their analysis of the complex processes of political incorporation, representation, and inclusion at all levels of government is based on the most current data available.

With an entirely new chapter on Latinas as candidates and as elected officials in 2021–2022, discussion of the latest voting-rights cases, and rich case studies throughout, this up-to-date text will provide readers with a solid understanding—and appreciation—of Latino political power today.

Sharon A. Navarro is professor of political science at the University of Texas at San Antonio. Kim Geron is professor emeritus of political science at California State University East Bay.

Undocumented Latino Youth: Navigating Their Worlds

Marisol Clark-Ibáñez

“An invaluable, impressively researched, exceptionally well written, organized and presented study.... [It] will prove of immense value to both scholars and non-specialist general readers.”—Helen Dumont, Midwest Book Review

“A must read.... Provides compelling examples of resilience, struggle, and activism.”—Gilda L. Ochoa, Pomona College

“Essential.... Sheds light on how the racist implementation of immigration policies trickles down to shape the lives of children and young people in and out of school.”

—Leisy J. Abrego, University of California, Los Angeles

Though often overlooked in heated debates, more than 1.8 million undocumented immigrants are under the age of 18. How do immigration policies shape the lives of these young people? How do local and state laws that are seemingly unrelated to undocumented communities negatively affect them? Marisol Clark-Ibáñez delivers an intimate look at growing up as an undocumented Latino immigrant, analyzing the social and legal dynamics that shape everyday life in and out of school.

Marisol Clark-Ibáñez is professor of sociology at California State University, San Marcos.

2ND EDITION

Puerto Ricans in the United States: A Contemporary Portrait

Edna Acosta-Belén and Carlos E. Santiago

Praise for the 1st edition (a Choice Outstanding Academic Book):

“An excellent panoramic view of Puerto Ricans in the United States.... Will become the [book] on Puerto Rican studies and a prominent complement to the ethnic studies literature, and well it should.”

—Carlos Vargas-Ramos,
Contemporary Sociology

“Arguably the deans of Puerto Rican studies, Acosta-Belén and Santiago provide a comprehensive, contemporary portrait of the nearly 8 million Puerto Ricans almost evenly divided between the island itself and across the US mainland and Hawaii.... A valuable reference work and ... an accessible one-volume introduction to US Puerto Ricans.... Essential.”—Choice

Fully revised and expanded to reflect more than a decade of new developments and data, the second edition of this widely acclaimed book presents an up-to-date, comprehensive portrait of the second largest Latino group in the United States.

Edna Acosta-Belén and Carlos Santiago trace the trajectory of the Puerto Rican experience from the early colonial period, through a series of waves of migration to the US, to current cultural legacies and political and social challenges. Their work is an indispensable resource for anyone seeking to understand the history, contributions, and contemporary realities of the ever-growing Puerto Rican diaspora.

Edna Acosta-Belén is Distinguished Professor Emerita and O’Leary Professor at the University at Albany, SUNY. Carlos E. Santiago is commissioner of higher education for the state of Massachusetts; before joining the Department of Education, he was chancellor of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and professor in the university’s Department of Economics.

Making a Life in Multiethnic Miami: Immigration and the Rise of a Global City

Elizabeth M. Aranda, Sallie Hughes, and Elena Sabogal

“A methodologically rich and theoretically sophisticated study that vividly contextualizes modern processes of migration and immigrant incorporation.”

—Maria Aysa-Lastra, Contemporary Sociology

“A groundbreaking [book].... Through its detailed analysis of the US city that includes the largest fraction of foreign-born people among its residents, Making a Life in Multiethnic Miami offers readers a glimpse into the future.”

—Steven J. Gold, Social Forces

“Indispensable for any serious scholar of immigration. Essential.” —Choice

With more than a million immigrants from Latin America and the Caribbean, Miami, Florida, boasts the highest proportion of foreign-born residents of any US city. Charting the rise of Miami as a global city, Elizabeth Aranda, Sallie Hughes, and Elena Sabogal provide a panoramic study of the changing dynamics of the immigration experience.

The authors move easily between an analysis of global currents and personal narratives, examining the many factors that shape the decision to emigrate and the challenges faced in making a new home. Offering a wealth of new insights, their work demonstrates why Miami is such an exceptional laboratory for studying the social forces and local effects of globalization on the ground.

Elizabeth M. Aranda is professor of sociology at the University of South Florida. Sallie Hughes is associate professor of journalism and Latin American studies at the University of Miami. Elena Sabogal is associate professor of women’s and gender studies at William Paterson University of New Jersey.

Queer People of Color: Connected but Not Comfortable

Angelique Harris, Juan Battle, and Antonio (Jay) Pastrana, Jr.

“Invaluable. The authors delve into the lives of the marginalized to present an analysis of a key aspect of social life—sociopolitical engagement—that is richly detailed and sensitive to issues of intersectionality.”

—Corey Fields,
Contemporary Sociology

“A valuable contribution to race studies, sexuality studies, and politics.... It is a great resource for scholars and students alike.”

—Anthony Christian Ocampo,
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

As individuals who historically have faced multiple forms of oppression, queer people of color often find themselves struggling to “fit in.” What impact does this have on their sociopolitical involvement within their communities of color? Within the queer community? And to what effect? Based on one of the largest surveys to date of African American, Latina/o, Asian American, and Pacific Islander American LGB people, this book offers a unique angle through which to examine belonging, and its converse, within marginalized communities.

Angelique Harris is director of faculty development at Boston University’s Medical Campus and director of faculty development and diversity in the university’s Department of Medicine. Juan Battle is professor of sociology, public health, and urban education at the Graduate Center of the City University of New York (CUNY). Antonio (Jay) Pastrana, Jr., is associate professor of sociology at John Jay College of Criminal Justice, CUNY.
